Alright, guys, this is my first fanfiction! I hope you like it! I also upload to wattpad as Mermaidsandspells. Please comment! There will be some OCs. And may I introduce...

H2O Life Goes On...

FYI: This is set when the girls are in 24-26 year range. And Emma is back.

Chapter 1: Arrival

Nobodies POV

"Nate, stop bothering me!" Rikki exclaimed as Nate once again attempted to hit on Rikki. "Fine, fine, you're so touchy," he grumbled as he walked away. "Hey Rikki! What's up?" Cleo said as Emma, Bella, and her walked into Rikki's Cafe. "Not much. Nate was trying to hit on me again." Bella tilted her head. "Doesn't he know you're dating Zane?" she asked, puzzled. "Who knows what Nate knows! Though I'm sure most the time his mind is blank," Rikki answered. Emma shrugged. "Hey, I just remembered, the full moon is tonight! Sleepover at my house?" Bella asked. "Oh no! I totally forgot the full moon! I have a date with Lewis tonight! And he said its REALLY important!" Cleo said, smacking herself in the head. She whipped out her phone and called Lewis. "Hey Lewis, I just remembered the full moon is tonight... Yes, I know you said its important, but so is the moon! ... Please, Lewis!? Thank you so much!" She hit end and turned toward her friends. "We rescheduled for tomorrow night. It's on!"

"Hey guys?" Rikki said slowly, as they were watching a movie that night at Bella's apartment. "Yeah?" "Well, I was thinking...I'm twenty six! Cleo's twenty five, Emma's twenty six, and Bella's twenty four! Don't you think we're a little old to have sleepovers?" She explained in a rush, as though it had been bothering her. Bella and Cleo looked at each other. "I guess..." Cleo trailed off. "I mean, none of us have gone moonstruck in years!" Rikki said. "Alright, then this is our last one," Emma said slowly. It hit Cleo hard that this was there last sleepover. They had been doing this for about eleven years! And this was the end... "I guess canceling with Lewis was pointless then," Emma whispered to Cleo.
